

Figure 1: Structure map of the AX_2 compounds as a function of coordination number. Arrows indicate high pressure phase transformations. Examples are given and are labelled X or N where the structure of the high pressure phase has been refined from x-ray or neutron diffraction data, respectively (a: high pressure, high temperature conditions; b: distorted rutile - distorted baddeleyite).